We all have a role to play in caring for ourselves, our families, and our communities during the COVID-19 lockdown. Carers NZ and IHC have launched wecare.kiwi to make it easy to care for and about each other. If you're on your own during the lockdown, or caring for a vulnerable person, you may need some support.

For people living on their own or caring for others during the pandemic.

Developed by national charities Carers NZ and IHC, wecare.kiwi offers a helping hand and a listening ear during the current Level 4 Lockdown period.

Will provide practical supports once New Zealand returns to alert Levels 2 and 3.
